◆ Knowledge Distillation Model Deployment Optimization (CCF-C Conference)

(First Author) | October 2024 – May 2025

Research Work: Aiming at the problem of insufficient edge computing power, this paper proposes the idea of deploying the student model obtained by teacher model knowledge distillation in the network. The proposed algorithm significantly reduces the model inference cost and user access bandwidth overhead, with the total overhead reduced by 12.8% on average.

◆ Starfish-inspired Ultra-high Performance Flexible Piezoresistive Sensor

(National College Students' Innovation Training Program) | April 2024 – May 2025

Project Work: Collect the dataset of the corresponding change between the sensor value of the piezoresistive sensor and the joint bending angle, use the random forest algorithm to train the detection model and deploy the corresponding back-end, so as to realize real-time monitoring of Parkinson's patients' joint bending and their health status.
